The ruin with bore hole and pretty land is located on the edge of a small village near Alvaiàzere in Central Portugal.

This great plot of land has an existing stone ruin. The land is a mixture of meadow containing olive and fruit trees and woodland. The land has clear boundaries, mostly defined by a stone wall. There is a bore hole already on the land for water making it ideal for off grid living.

This is a great opportunity for someone to rebuild the stone ruin and create a 2-3 bedroom house with in a peaceful location. With the advantage of a small town 10 minute by car where there are all the everyday amenities including supermarkets, schools, banks, restaurants, health centre, sports centre, vets etc.
